Brookstone Capital Management Named to 2015 Financial Times 300 Top Registered Investment Advisers

WHEATON, IL – June 18, 2015 – Brookstone Capital Management (BCM) is pleased to announce that it has been named to the Financial Times (FT) 300 Top Registered Investment Advisers for the second consecutive year. The list recognizes top independent RIA firms from across the U.S. Founded in 2006, BCM has more than doubled its AUM over the past two years to approximately $1.7 Billion, with $700 Million added in just the past 12 months alone.

This is the second annual FT 300 list, produced independently by the FT in collaboration with Ignites Research, a subsidiary of the FT that provides business intelligence on the investment management industry. More than 2,000 elite RIA firms were invited to apply for consideration, based on their assets under management (AUM). 630 RIA firms were then graded on six criteria: AUM; AUM growth rate; years in existence; advanced industry credentials; online accessibility; and compliance records.

“We are thrilled about making this list again,” said BCM Founder and CEO, Dean Zayed, who cites the focus on new technologies, comprehensive training, and innovative investment managers as important factors in BCM’s growth. BCM consistently performs extensive analyses and reassessments of its platform to quickly evolve and embrace the dual mandate of limiting large losses while delivering competitive risk-adjusted returns. “We have evolved beyond the status quo, 20th-century approach to investing. In today’s volatile markets, it is very apparent that simply beating a benchmark means you could still lose a significant portion of a client’s wealth. At BCM, we developed a unique approach of diversifying across multiple, risk-managed strategies. This allows you to manage wealth for both performance and protection, and an indication of our success is being named to the Financial Times 300 list”
